DRIVER'S BUS REPORT

Dedication

The Senior Class of Farm Life High holds in high esteem a faculty member who is a dedicated leader striving to materialize ideals of the highest standard. As a teacher she is lessened by none. With a fairminded attitude, unlimited understanding, yet firm control, she encourages her students to seek knowledge beyond the classroom. She also manages to be a friend without losing sight of the line between teachers and students—the line between friendship and disrespect.

In appreciation of her deep concern and unmeasurable efforts for her students, we dedicate the 1970 MILLSTREAM to Mrs. Rebecca Young.

Business Education

The business curriculum at Farm Life High, which consists of Typing I and II, Shorthand, Office Practice, and Bookkeeping, strives to develop the proper skills and attitudes necessary for students to compete in a business world. Teachers work hard to prepare the students to think independently, to assume the responsibilities of office work, and to provide a foundation for those students who wish to study further in this field.

Mr. Michael Rudisill

Drivers Education

Driver Education is now required by the state if a person wishes to acquire a driver's license before the age of 18. Farm Life offers the students classroom instruction consisting of a minimum of 30 clock hours and behind-the-wheel training consisting of a minimum of 6 clock hours plus 12 clock hours of observing. The students must possess a knowledge of traffic rules and regulations, skills in manual operation and maneuverability of the vehicle, and maturity in attitude and responsibility.

Language

Language makes it possible for people to talk to each other and to express their thoughts and ideas. Without language for communication, science, religion, commerce, art, literature, and philosophy would be very limited.

Here at FLHS, the language department consists of English I thru IV, French I and II, Reading Improvement, and Advanced Grammar. English prepares a student for effective speech and effective writing through grammar, book reports, themes, compositions. career booklets, research papers, and reading skills.

The purpose of French is to increase a student's range of communication and knowledge of other nations, and to add to the understanding of one's own language.

Mrs. Janice Forbes

Mrs. Vivian Taylor

Mrs. Jane Neal

Library

How do people learn about different parts of the world without having been, or different opinions on different ideas without hearing them expressed? Through reading, one acquires understanding and knowledge. The library materials at FLHS consist of books, newspapers, and magazines.

The librarian diligently carries out her job of selecting these materials, organizing these materials to be of the greatest value to library users, and helping people find the information or materials they need.

Math

Mrs. Camilla Godwin

Mrs. Judy Dees

Mathematics, like a tree, branches into a curriculum of General Math, Algebra I and II, Geometry, and Advanced Math. Refresher classes for students taking the S.A.T. and other tests have been conducted by the Math Department.

Mr. E.O. Thomas

Mr. Roy Lupton

Physical Education

Three days a week the physical education students headed for the locker rooms to dress out. On these days the students indulged in extensive physical activities including football, kickball, basketball, and softball.

On the other two days, the students studied health. Gathered in the classroom, an attentive class studied the principles of first aid for the human body.

Mr. Michael Averette

Mr. Peter Greer

Social Studies

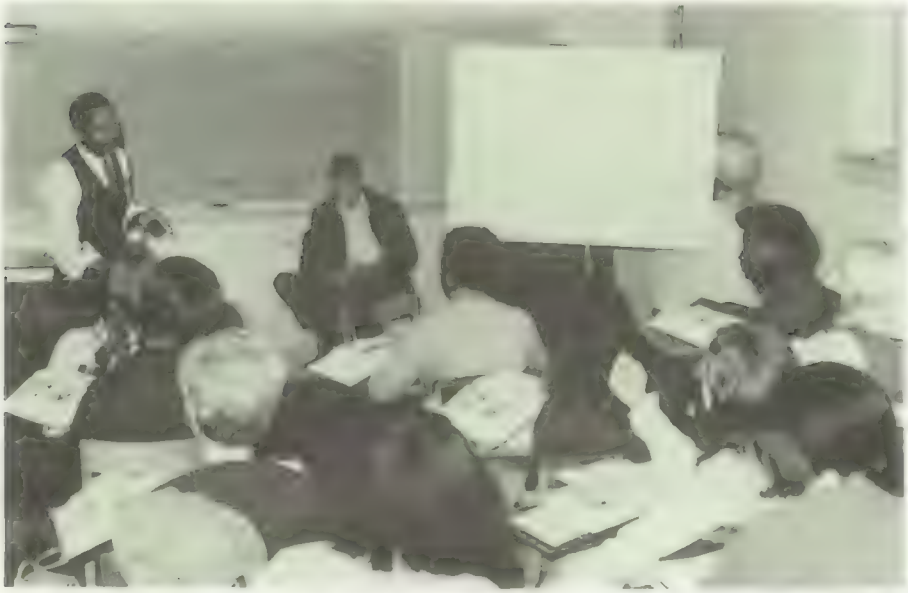
Farm Life High's Social Studies Department strives to prepare the student to be a civic-minded individual capable of dealing with problems which will confront him in this technological age. It prepares him with knowledge of past events that have a great deal to do with the world today.



Mrs. Margaret Gray

Mrs. Sue Robinson

Science

The advancement of science determines the future. At Farm Life, emphasis is placed on theory and understanding. Later, these skills are put to work in the laboratory. General Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics are offered in the Science Department.

Vocations

Farm Life has developed a program in training the future labor force. The program is divided into three sections: carpentry, agriculture, and industrial arts.

In carpentry, a house is being built in Stewart Park. After completion of the house, it will be sold and the money will be used to buy a new lot and equipment.

Classes in agriculture teach cultivation and conservation. Classes attend field trips and take care of the shrubs and trees on campus.

Industrial Arts includes mechanical drawing, metal technology, shop work, and basic electronics. Workers design, build, and finish wood products. Other students shape metal to form scoops and cannons. The newest course is Electronics. As well as studying theory, the students build motors, continuity testers, and radios.

Many young women of Farm Life High School learn the skills to run a home in Home Economics. Main activities of the future homemakers are sewing dresses, cooking meals and executing general house work.

Finding the right job is important. Introduction to Vocations reviews the basics of each job field. Students then find possible clues to their future vocations.

Art

Mrs. Marilyn Smith

The imagination of art students at Farm Life has filled the main hallway and art room with the expressions of young minds. Posters, designs, and other works of art are turned out every week, bringing color to the school.

Lunchroom

Homecoming

Diana Whitford was crowned Homecoming Queen. First, second, and third runners-up were Thelma Dawson, Alice Gaskins, and Phyllis Gaskins, respectively.

After the candidates were nominated by the football team, the student body elected the queen. This selection was kept secret until the night of the crowning.

The candidates were Diana Whitford, Mary Ann Ipock; Alice Gaskins, Sharon Morris, Phyllis Gaskins, Thelma Dawson, Angela Garris, and Angela Cahoon.

Junior-Senior

"Tahitian Holiday," the Junior-Senior Prom theme, gave many students the feeling of being in a paradise. Highlight of the theme was the giant Tiki God. Monkeys on palm trees, grass huts, and small Tiki God candles complemented the tables. Multiple colored tropical birds were scattered along the ceiling. Music was provided by "The Illusions."

The teachers and the president of each club and class were invited. Mid-way the prom, the officers of the Senior class and presidents of the clubs and classes and their escorts were given a dance of their own.

Gaily clothed sophomore waiters and waitresses displayed the manners of Tahitian natives as they served parent-prepared refreshments to the guests.

Organizations

Beta Club

Farm Life's most academic club, the Beta Club, had numerous worthwhile purposes to put forward this past year. The club encouraged students to further their educations. Beta also strived to promote service, honesty, and leadership among the students.

Activities of this year's club included selling hot chocolate at football games, sponsoring dances, and holding chicken salad suppers to provide for a scholarship. The senior who received this scholarship was voted upon by the members of the club. Part of the funds were also used to finance the trip to the State Beta Club Convention in Raleigh, North Carolina. The annual induction ceremony was performed after mid-term.

Officers: Roger Jones, Vice-President; Diana Whitford, Secretary; Gloria Fornes, Treasurer; Frankie Fulcher, President.

Bi-Chem-Phi

For all students who were interested in science, the Bi-Chem-Phi was the club for them this past year. Students who have particular interests in science were provided opportunities by the use of the science laboratory to conduct special activities.

Bi-Chem-Phi members raised funds by bake sales to purchase items useful in the scientific functions of the club. The members also attended the Science Fair at East Carolina University, Greenville, North Carolina.

To become a member, one must be enrolled in a science course. An average of 85 must be held by the member for each science course he has taken. Each member is required to construct an original science project.

OFFICERS: Craig Lewis, Reporter; Marlene Williams, Treasurer; Diana Whitford, President; Dianne Neal, Vice-President; Teresa Morris, Secretary.

Bus Drivers

The Bus Drivers Club gave a safety award to the best bus driver for the year. In the halls of the school building, safety posters were put up. The members also displayed water-proof posters on the outside of the school buildings. The Bus Drivers Club had a Safety Week in November. They had a guest speaker, Mr. B.E. Edwards, the State Highway Patrolman of Vanceboro. The members, along with Mr. Edwards, talked about how safety could be improved on the highway and showed many factual films.

Bus drivers have a big responsibility; they have to see that students are transported to and from school safely.

OFFICERS: Jerel Wilson, Reporter; Claudette Wooten, Secretary; Philip McCandless, Vice-President; Ronnie Drake, President.

One of the school's largest clubs, the Future Farmers of America, has been an extremely active organization. For example, shrubbery was planted around the smoking area to beautify the vicinity. A booth was exhibited in the Craven County Fair.

Selling peanuts and magazines enabled the members to raise funds used for scholarships. An annual Father and Son Banquet was also financed by the selling of these goods.

To become a member of this club, one must be enrolled in an agricultural course and survive the annual induction ceremony.

OFFICERS: Bill Newell, Secretary, David Langston, Chaplain, Jimmy Nobles, Vice-President, James White, President, Jerry Morris, Treasurer; Roger Braxton, Sentinel.

OFFICERS: Rose M. Fillingame, Vice-President; Gloria Fornes, Reporter; Gloria Wiggins, President; Rosa L. Fillingame, Secretary; Cynthia Dale, Parliamentarian; Betty Jolly, Historian.

The Future Business Leaders of America began organizing in September with twenty-three members. The Future Business Leaders of America held their installation of new officers and the induction of new members in October. Their sales campaign was held in November. They chose selling Christmas candles as their project, and it turned out to be a profitable one. The FBLA went on an educational trip to Havelock High School where they viewed the Data Processing Department. During the Easter holidays they helped with the Crippled Children's Fund. The club invited a member of the FBI staff to speak to the club. He spoke on the advantages of working under Civil Service. The State Leadership Conference was held April 3-5 in Durham. Delegates from Farm Life High School attended and participated in various events. The FBLA had a picnic honoring the Senior members.

OFFICERS: Becky McCandless, Recreation; Brenda Wiggins, Vice-President; Sandra Alcock, President; Brenda Garris, Parliamentarian, Connie Toler, Secretary; Jo Ann Holmes, Treasurer.

F.H.A.

Many interesting activities and projects highlighted the year for the Future Homemakers of America. The projects executed by Farm Life's Chapter included a first-prize booth in the local bi-county fair entitled "Breaking Down the Barriers." The Future Homemakers also had a Yard Beautification and Community Clean-Up Week. The Club, with help from the Vanceboro Homemakers Extension Club, sponsored a yard contest and awarded a trophy to the yard judged by professional judges. Articles were put in the local paper with suggestions for yard care. The Future Homemakers met with the town council to plan a special clean-up week for the town. In the spring, the members and their parents were invited to an informal party. Though the future homemakers try not to put emphasis on raising money, many of their projects require financing. Farm Life's Chapter sold do-nuts and cherry tarts on Washington's birthday.

Student Council

Student Council has an important position in the halls of Farm Life High School. By drawing up the Hall Patrol System, the members presented the students a quicker and more efficient way of getting to their classes on time. This system became effective on October 15. The members also made it possible for other students to have an activity area. The members sponsored a dance in the school lunchroom after the Homecoming Game.

The main purpose of the Student Council is to help the students have a voice in the administration and make the school more organized and efficient.

OFFICERS: Samuel Lane, Treasurer; Joe Jacaruso, President; Jimmy Mercer, Vice-President; Jennifer Jones, Secretary.

V.I.C.A.

VICA members do more than hammer nails and saw boards. They learn how to perform these and other craftsmanship techniques properly.

This past year VICA undertook the finishing of a house in Stuart Park, Vanceboro, North Carolina. The members were given practical experience in the facts that they were taught in the classroom.

Other activities included selling candy and holding a shrimp supper. Funds were raised to help provide for materials used by the club.

Membership in the club is open to those students who are enrolled in carpentry or any other trade and industrial courses.

Monogram Club

Most educators feel that the support of athletics, whether one participates or spectates, is important for a well-rounded personality. The Monogram Club has done its best to bring the students of Farm Life High School the most enjoyable year of sports in its history.

This past year the club has worked very hard selling chocolate candy and seat cushions. Money raised from these activities was used in support of the athletic program. The Monogram Club also financed the annual Athletic Banquet where prominent school athletes were awarded for their accomplishments.

In order to become a member of the Monogram Club, one must be a varsity athlete or cheerleader. The applicant must also pass an initiation ceremony.

OFFICERS: Buddy Whitford, Reporter; Cornell Wise, President; Dixie Lancaster, Treasurer; Ritchie Lilly, Vice-President; Vickie Mercer, Secretary.

Performing Arts

Millstream Playhouse

An actor in colorful costume, a delightful musical-comedy, imaginative lighting, effective staging, an enraptured audience, thunderous applause, a well deserved curtain call . . . all these elements contribute to the composition and appreciation of the Millstream Playhouse.

Now in its fourth year under the direction of Michael Averette, the Millstream Playhouse has grown into one of the most outstanding high school play-producing organizations in eastern North Carolina.

Following in the tradition established by its director, the Playhouse continues to bring to its audiences the best of Broadway's great hits. On November 21, 1969, Woody Allen's rollicking comedy "Don't Drink the Water" played to an appreciative audience.

In January, auditions and rehearsals began for the musical comedy "Brigadoon," the haunting musical fantasy about a Scottish town that has gone to sleep and awakes for a single day once each hundred years, was written by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe and won the New York Critics' Circle prize as the best musical of its first New York stage season.

Returning with the East Carolina Music Theater Orchestra for "Brigadoon" was Conductor Barry Shank. Mr. Shank conducted the orchestra for the Playhouse production "South Pacific" last spring. The various Scottish dances were choreographed by Marie Wallace.

Musical comedy, along with jazz, is the only true American contribution to the music of today. It encompasses many art forms: architecture (set design), painting, dancing, drama, and music. Having a part in a musical production, no matter how small, teaches the student the value of teamwork and responsibility. Everything must click—the backgroung and accompaniment of the orchestra, never overpowering, but always supporting; the rousing and thrilling sound of the chorus; the soloists, although having major parts, learning that "the play's the thing." The smooth merger of these elements into the overall framework of the production makes it a success.

Few high school activities can compare with the production of a musical—the teamwork, the efforts, the rewards. After the last curtain call, the feeling of achievement is immense. To these ends, the Millstream Playhouse strives to bring to the surrounding area the best in entertainment.

Farm Life High's 1969-70 Red Raider football team was very successful. The team set their goal high and reached it by teamwork, desire, and hard work.

The defense, which was dedicated to its work, destroyed other teams time and time again. This unit forced the opponents to give up the ball to the much superior Raiders.

The offense was led by All-East Fullback Roland Hooks. This team played exciting football, executing the plays superbly.

These combined units ended the season with a 7–3 overall record and a 7–1 conference record. Misfortune struck in the regional play-off when the Raiders fell to Manteo 38 to 20.

This year's conference champions placed four players on the All-Conference list:
Roland Hooks
Robert Baker
Cornelius Dawson
Cornell Wise
Head Coach Roy Lupton was chosen "Coach of the Year" by the other conference coaches.

Once again the Red Raiders proved successful on the hardwood court. Many times this year the Raiders displayed a blazing offense and a very sticky defense. Both defense and offense showed that the team was one or the strongest in 1–A competition. 1970 was a good year for the Raiders; 1971 should prove more successful because the five starters will be returning.

Girls Basketball

The year 1969-70 proved to be successful for Coach Roy Lupton and his girls' basketball team. Desire and long, hard practices led to nine consecutive victories and a winning season with an eleven-seven overall record. The team looks to another winning year with the loss of only two members through graduation.

Editors Note

Long hours and hard work are now at an end. The presses have stopped. And yet, the story of the students and faculty at Farm Life High is not over. We can only share a small part of the events and lasting memories which have made up the 1969-70 session at Farm Life High School. The story has been told with its memorable happenings which have left a mark in the life of every student on the campus.

Under the guidance of Mr. Michael Averette, our advisor, and Mrs. Rebecca Young, our literary advisor, a finished copy of the Millstream arrives for distribution.
